From MONDAY April 22d, to MONDAY April 29th, 1751.

CHARLES-TOWN.

In the ASSEMBLY, April 24th, 1751.

MR. Speaker, with the House, went up to attend his Excellency the Governor, in the Council Chamber, and being returned, Mr. Speaker reported, That the House had attended the Governor in the Council-Chamber, where his Excellency had been pleased to give his Assent, in Council, to an ingrossed Bill, intituled,

An Act for appointing Commissioners to build a Bridge over Pon-Pon-River near the Place where the old Bridge stood, and for making Causways leading to the said Bridge: And for appointing Commissioners, to finish and complete a Road already laid out from the Horse Shoe Road to Portallago Causway, in the Parish of St. Bartholomew, and to keep the said Road in Repair: And for appointing Commissioners to cut a Creek from Ashepoo-River to Pon-Pon-River, at the upper End of the Goose-Marsh between the said Rivers.

And also an ingrossed Bill, intituled, An Act for establishing a Ferry from the Plantation of Colonel Samuel Prioleau, commonly called Patterfion's Point on Port Royal Island, to the Land late of Thomas Innes deceased, on the Indian Land, and for vesting the said Ferry in the said Colonel Samuel Prioleau, his Executors, Administrators and assigns, for the Term of Ten Years: And for establishing one other Ferry, from the Land late of the said Thomas Innes deceased, to the said Plantation of the said Col Samuel Prioleau, and for vesting the same in John Greene, his Executors, Administrators and assigns, for the like Term.

Mr. Speaker further reported, That he had presented another ingrossed Bill to the Governor, for his Assent, in Council, intituled, An Act to appoint and establish new Lists of Jurymen, by Ballot, in this Province: And to empower the Courts of Law in Cases therein mentioned. And, That his Excellency was pleased to say, That he would not at that Time give his Negative to the said ingrossed Bill.

Mr. Speaker also reported, That he had presented one other ingrossed Bill to the Governor, for his Assent, in Council, intituled, An Act for dividing the Parish of St. Philip Charles-Town, and for building another Church and a Parsonage-House in the said Town. And that he had, pursuant to the Order of the House, upon presenting the said Bill, introduced the same in Words to the following Effect, viz.

May it please your Excellency,

SINCE the Commencement of His Majesty's auspicious Reign, he has shewn himself not only the most gracious King, but the good Christian, truly worthy of that Part of his Royal Title, Defender of the Faith, and that not only in his Majesty's European Dominions, but also in his American Territories, as we are informed from his Majesty's Royal Instructions to your Excellency, the Purport of which you were pleased to lay before the Assembly, by which his Majesty's great Concern for the preserving and propagating here the true Worship of God is clearly testified, in requiring your Excellency to take Care that the Churches already built, be well and orderly kept; and that more be built as by God's Blessing the Province is improved; and that convenient Houses be built for the Ministers of the Orthodox Church.

Your Excellency, at the late Meeting of this Assembly, had, in your Speech to both Houses, very pregnantly represented our religious and civil Duties, in recommending to us TO FEAR GOD AND HONOUR THE KING. The late great Increase of Charles-Town has united the good Christians Inhabitants of this Town in a general Complaint, that the present Church of St. Philip's is too small to accommodate the People disposed to attend God's Service. They therefore join in their Desire for the having another Church in the said Town; and the want of another Church in this Town has been presented, as a Grievance, by the Grand Juries at the General Sessions. Encouraged therefore, by his Majesty's pious Example and Sentiments, invited by your Excellency's own Recommendation, and moved by the Complaints and Desires of the People, the Assembly have prepared a Bill, by which the Religious Offices of the established Church may hereafter be better exercised, God's Worship be the easier promoted, as his Majesty's People are here increased. A Bill calculated so religiously, with Respect to God, and so dutifully with respect to his Majesty, We are hopeful your Excellency will cheerfully receive and give your Assent to.

And Mr. Speaker also reported, That the Governor then made a Speech to the Council and this House, of which Mr. Speaker said his Excellency had been pleased to give him a Copy, together with certain Reasons referred to in the said Speech.

Then the said Speech was read, and is as follows:

Honourable Gentlemen, Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen,
I AM so much of Opinion, that another Church is wanted in Charles-Town, for Performance of Divine Service, that it gives me great Concern, that I cannot also be of Opinion, that the Bill you now present for that Purpose is proper to receive my Assent.

However, I shall be sorry if a Bill for so pious a Purpose should be the Occasion of Dispeace betwixt the General Assembly and me, it has excited Clamour without Doors, but tho' such Clamour may gratify unthinking Men, I trust it will have no Weight with the Council or Assembly, or indeed with any Men of Sense.

I have heard, that, unless I give my Assent to this Bill, Complaints will be made of me to the King. Of what will Complaints be made? Of what can Complaints be made? I endeavour to do my Duty, to keep to the Constitution, to adhere to my Instructions, and I am determined to persevere in this Practice. But I shall never suppress or stifle any Complaints that can be made against me; on the Contrary, Gentlemen, I am ready to put the Great Seal to them.

All Acts that you may present to me, that are agreeable to the Laws and Customs of Great Britain, and to his Majesty's Instructions, shall receive my cheerful Assent: If they appear to me to be contrary, I am obliged to give a Negative Voice.

I have the Honour to be Governor of this Province, and consequently am the sworn Servant of the Crown. I have made it my Study to cultivate and keep up a good Understanding betwixt the General Assembly and me, but if that cannot be preserved, but by an Act, which, in my Opinion, would be betraying the trust reposed in me by His Majesty, there is no Room for Hesitation, I must obey my Master, and in so doing I follow the Advice of the wisest Man that ever lived, I counsel thee, says he, to keep the King's Commandment, and that in regard to the Oath of God: Who so keepeth the Commandment shall feel no Evil thing. And therefore, I will consider of this Bill, and some of my Reasons for so doing are contained in the Paper herewith delivered to You.

Taken from LEX MERCATORIA, Chap. 44.
The Proceedings used against BANKRUPTS.
T*HE* mutability and uncertainty of all worldly affairs, and especially of merchants estates, causeth me to remember the ancient ancient Dutch proverb, Goods lost, nothing lost; Credit lost, much lost; Soul lost, all lost: for to be rich and become poor, or to be poor and become rich, is a matter inherent to a merchant's estate; and as it were a continual and successive course of the volubility of variable blind fortune, which is admitted (according to the heathen word) for a distinction of God's providence, as the words of fate, destiny, chance, and the like are, for the better understanding of it: So that by the frequency of it, merchants have made a great difference and distinction between a merchant which is at a stay and taketh days for the payment of his debts, or one that is broken or bankrupt, having an especial regard herein for the preservation of credit, which is as tender as the apple of an eye. For it happeneth many times, that merchants having taken up money at interest to augment their trade, and thereby doing good to their prince and country, shall receive some unexpected losses by wars on land, or embargoes, or restraints of princes upon the seas, of their ships and goods, or by having sold their goods and merchandizes at home at long days of payment, or otherwise upon other occasions, having their best means in remote places, whereby the said merchants cannot suddenly make payments of such monies as they have taken up at interest, which in that interim may be due, and so they are driven at a stay, although they have very good estates. For some rich men (who like an ape tied to a clog, which thinketh that he keepeth the clog, when the clog keepeth him) are so tied to the clog of their wealth, that upon the least rumours of troubles and accidents happening to their debtors, they become suspicious of these men's estates, and fearing to become losers, are so inquisitive of their debtors means (without reason and discretion) to the great hurt and impairing of merchants credit and reputation, that thereby they are driven into a straight on a sudden, and so overthrow them (unawares many times) to their own hindrance and loss. So that merchants must be very provident and careful with whom they deal, in taking credit for monies, and not to have too much of their estate abroad; for the proverb is true, That he who is farthest from his goods, is nearest to his loss. And in this case princes have great reason to interpose their prerogatives for the defence of these merchants persons and goods, for prevention of their overthrow, until their goods come to their hands and disposing, that have been detained as afore said.

This difference and distinction between a merchant taking days of payment, and a bankrupt, doth encourage men to deal honestly and conscientiously, especially with the virtuous, and well disposed; for Virtus laudat creditum, whereby they pay every man his own in time, and for the most part with interest, for the forbearance of their due debts; and therefore is it, that to call this man a bankrupt, beareth a great action by the civil law, as also by the common law of the realm.
